ADVERTISEMENT TO FOURTH EDITION.

In issuing the Fourth Edition of my little Volume from the Press, I again most respectfully thank the Ladies of the United Kingdom, for the very flattering manner the Three former Editions have been received.

The Second Series has been reprinted, containing Receipts for Four New Collars; the Third and Last Series is preparing for the Press, and will appear immediately.

Gravesend, 1846.
The Berlin Wool and Fancy Trade are respectfully informed, that these Collars are Registered, and may be had Wholesale of the Proprietor, 60, Windmill Street, Gravesend.

N.B. None are genuine unless bearing the registered mark.

INSTRUCTION GIVEN IN

KNITTING, NETTING, AND CROCHET.

THE APPEARANCE OF EACH COLLAR MAY BE CONSIDERABLY IMPROVED, BY SEWING ON A LACE PEARL EDGE.

The size of the Needles are given according to the Eagle Card Board Gauge.
KNITTED LACE COLLAR,
No. 1.

Needles, No. 16. Clarke's Cable Laid Thread, No. 30; or Boar's Head Cotton, No. 34.

CAST ON TWENTY-FIVE STITCHES, AND KNIT ONE ROW PLAIN.

First Row.—Slip one, knit two, thread forward and knit two together, knit two, thread forward two together, put the thread twice round the pin, and knit two together eight times (passing the cotton twice round the pin before knitting the two together each time); this must be observed in the 3rd, 5th, and 7th rows, and also in the decreasing.

Second Row.—Knit two and purl one, repeat this seven times, knit nine plain.

Third Row.—Slip one, knit two, thread forward and knit two together, knit two, thread forward two together, put the thread twice round the pin, and knit two together twelve times.

Fourth Row.—Knit two and purl one, repeat this eleven times, knit nine plain.

Fifth Row.—Slip one, knit two, thread forward and knit two together, knit two, thread forward and knit two together, put the thread twice round the pin, and knit two together eighteen times.

Sixth Row.—Knit two and purl one, repeat this seventeen times, knit nine plain.

Seventh Row.—Slip one, knit two, thread forward and knit two together, knit two, thread forward and knit two together, put the cotton twice round the pin, and knit two together twenty-seven times.

Eighth Row.—Knit two and purl one, repeat this twenty-six times, knit nine plain.
Ninth Row.—Slip one, knit two, thread forward and knit two together, knit two, thread forward and knit two together, knit two together forty times, knit one plain.

Tenth Row.—Cast off ten stitches, which will leave thirty-nine on your left hand pin, and one on your right; knit two together fifteen times, knit nine plain.

The above ten rows will form one Scallop; then commence again, as at the first row, until fifteen Scallops are completed.

To make both ends of this Collar of an equal depth, it will be necessary to decrease: the fashionable size for the Collar will be nineteen Scallops, the decreasing will commence at the sixteenth Scallop, as directed in Page 8; but to those Ladies who wish to avoid the trouble of decreasing, simply knitting the nineteen Scallops in the manner directed, placing it in a band or on a habit-shirt, and folding down the cast-off end, so that each may be of an equal width, will answer the purpose.

First Row.—Knit two together, thread forward, knit two together, knit two, thread forward, knit two together, cotton twice round the pin, and knit two together eight times (as directed in the first row).

Second Row.—Knit two and purl one eight times (as directed in second row), knit the rest plain.

Third Row.—Knit two together, thread forward, knit two together, knit two, thread forward and knit two together, thread twice round the pin, and knit two together twelve times.

Fourth Row.—Knit two and purl one twelve times, knit the rest plain.

Fifth Row.—Knit two together, knit three, thread forward and knit two together, cotton twice round the pin, and knit two together eighteen times.

Sixth Row.—Knit two and purl one eighteen times, knit the rest plain.

Seventh Row.—Knit two together, knit two, thread forward, knit two together, thread twice round the pin, and knit two together twenty-seven times.

Eighth Row.—Knit two and purl one twenty-seven times, knit the rest plain.

Ninth Row.—Knit two together, knit one, thread forward and knit two together, knit two together forty times, knit one plain.

Tenth Row.—Cast off ten, knit two together fifteen times, knit the rest plain.

Decrease the three remaining Scallops in a similar manner, which will bring both ends to correspond; then place the Collar in a Cambric Band.
